

I IMPLORE the FCC not to allow cell phones on airborne aircraft. It's bad enough that we're subjected to strangers' cell phone conversations almost everywhere we go these days, but to be stuck next to a cell phone blabber on an airplane for hours, with no way to escape, would be intolerable. I predict much fraying of tempers and many ugly incidents.